KEYWORDS STUDIOS IN MILAN: REACH THE NEXT LEVEL OF AUDIO LOCALIZATION

POWERFUL, IMMERSIVE SOUND FOR PLAYERS

At Keywords Studios, we know that your players expect the highest standards when it comes to audio content. We also understand that challenges such as technical defects, poor casting, inferior sound and below-par direction can result in your game being ill-received by gamers.

By upgrading and expanding our recording facility in Milan, we are combining talent with new, state-of-the-art tools to provide you with the right audio and post-production solutions that cater to your project requirements. Interested?

Discover how we've built on our reputation as the go-to provider for creating authentic, immersive audio assets for video games.

RECREATE THE VOICE OF YOUR GAME

With an unrivalled pedigree and proven track record established over 20-plus years, the Milan studio is a key player in Italy's video game industry, having managed audio and post-production for everything from cult indie titles to AAA+ franchises – across all genres and platforms.

Now, thanks to additional advanced technology and expanded facilities – with the recent addition of Jinglebell to the Keywords Studios family – the Milan studio is the largest video games audio-dedicated hub in the country.

CHALLENGES

When building a title, developers want to focus on the creative narratives and gameplay that will delight their players. Having to dedicate precious resources to planning and managing audio localization and post-production can be a challenge.

01

Facilities
Lack of physical infrastructure and hardware dedicated to audio recording and post-production.

02

Expertise
Little experience in casting, script translation, voice direction, editing, mastering and quality assurance checks.

03

Flexibility
Dedicated teams or sufficient scale to accelerate audio recording and production projects.

SOLUTION

The Milan studio can help ensure your game's audio localization feels natural and authentic for players. We provide audio solutions for the most sought-after languages; delivered from our own premises or in collaboration with trusted global partners.

01

Recording
In-territory specialists for recording and post-production. We can deliver solutions in more than 50 languages, managed by an experienced global team.

02

Casting
A rich talent pool of 400+ specialists, with experience across all game genres.

03

Post-Production
Proven experience in editing, mixing, SFX and mastering to help ensure quality outputs.

"With the video games industry representing the pinnacle of interactive digital content, we are continuously developing our global services to be the go-to provider. Upgrading and expanding the Milan studio is a key step in continuing to offer the best of the best for these publishers and developers."

FULVIO SIOLI
Regional Managing Director, Keywords Studios - Europe

Improved capabilities added to those already existing from renowned audio and video production studio, Jinglebell, has resulted in the creation of the largest audio production centre in Italy.

STATE-OF-THE-ART
The Milan studio now has 12 post-production rooms, in which engineers centralise and harmonize the output of audio recordings done in other sites. Our newly built 16m2 room has variable acoustics, which allows engineers to control reverberation and to recreate the acoustic qualities of an open field, an abandoned mansion or other spaces.

Your entire audio localization project can be managed from our Milan studio, with everything from voice actor casting and recording, to mixing, processing and post-recording quality checks.

END-TO-END SOLUTIONS
We provide audio for the most sought-after languages in our own premises or collaborate with trusted partners to help ensure your game's audio localization feels natural and authentic. You can also access our global network of audio studios and partners through a single point of contact, for unparalleled ease of management.

Our specialist audio teams have successfully collaborated with video games publishers and developers, interactive entertainment creators and global brands to help them achieve their goals.

PROVEN TRACK RECORD
We have been trusted with multilingual management for some of the biggest industry franchises, including Assassin's Creed, League of Legends, Resident Evil, FIFA, Deathloop and many more.
This experience is at your disposal and our solutions can be tailored to your specific project requirements, workflows and timings.
